Guide to and information on power of attorney and the option of withdrawing the power of attorney

In cases where you do not have the strength or resources to conduct your own case, it may be a good idea to grant power of attorney to a person you trust.

The different types of power of attorney

Access to documents means that AES sends a single copy of all documents in your case to the person you give power of attorney to.

Access to documents and the right to complain and ask for resumption (code 21) means that both you and the person/company having power of attorney receive the same letters, and you therefore have the opportunity to follow the proceedings yourself:

- AES will in future send a copy of all letters in your case to the person/company having power of attorney.
- The person/company having power of attorney has the right to send replies to AES's letters on your behalf.
- The person/company having power of attorney has the right to access documents and see all the documents in your case in Se Sag (self-service solution).
- The person/company having power of attorney has the right to make a complaint or withdraw a complaint of decisions.
- The person/company having power of attorney has the right to ask for resumption of the case.

Conducting the case for you – party representation (code 31) means that the person/company having power of attorney conducts your case for you and assumes all your rights:

- AES will in future send all letters and decisions in your case directly to the person/company having power of attorney - you will therefore not receive letters from AES as long as the power of attorney is valid.
- The person/company having power of attorney has the right to answer letters from AES.
- The person/company having power of attorney has the right to access documents and see all the documents in your case in Se Sag (self-service solution).
- The person/company having power of attorney has the right to be heard as a party to the case.

- The person/company having power of attorney has the right to make a complaint or withdraw a complaint of decisions.
- The person/company having power of attorney has the right to ask for resumption of the case.

Annulment of power of attorney

You may withdraw a power of attorney anytime. This you can do by completing the form below and sending it to us.

The person having power of attorney will then be removed from the case and you will receive all correspondence regarding the case. You may also, of course, opt to grant power of attorney to a different person.

AES automatically deletes the power of attorney when your case is closed - i.e. when the appeal period for the last decision in your case has expired.
